

The 20th Workshop on Linguistics and Language Processing

Theme: Doing Linguistics with Big Data

- DATE: May 29th, 2016
- VENUE: Cheongwoon Bldg. Room 207
- HOST: Kyung Hee Institute for the Study of Language and Information (ISLI)
- Invited Speakers: Mark Davies (Brigham Young Univ.), Javier Perez-Guerra (Univ. of Vigo)

(May 29 th)		Cheongwoon Bldg. Room 207
9:00am~9:20am	REGISTRATION
9:20am~9:30am	WELCOMING ADDRESS
9:30am~10:20am	Mark Davies (Brigham Young Univ.) “Why size alone is not enough: The importance of historical, genre-based, and dialectal variation in language”
10:20am~10:30am	Break Time
10:30am~12:00pm	Sanghoun Song (Incheon National Univ.)	Mathematical modelling of divergence in acceptability judgments
	Phoebe Lin (The Hong Kong Polytechnic Univ.)	How many exposures do learners need to learn an English phrase? A big data approach
	Euhee Kim (Shinhan Univ.) Myung-Kwan Park (Dongguk Univ.)	Dependency-based empty category detection using phrase structure trees in Korean
12:00pm~13:00pm	Lunch
13:00pm~13:40pm	Javier Perez Guerra (Univ. of Vigo) “Marked syntax and marked textual functions: when style models data”
13:40pm~14:10pm	Winnie Cheng (The Hong Kong Polytechnic Univ.)	A corpus-study of reporting verbs in research articles: Cross-generic and cross-disciplinary perspectives
14:10pm~14:20pm	Break Time
14:20pm~15:50pm	Yohtaro Takano (Meiji Univ.)	Foreign language side effect: Temporary decline of thinking ability during the use of unskilled language
	Seung-Ok Lee (Univ. of Tokyo) Yohtaro Takano (Meiji Univ.)	Foreign language side effect: Recent findings
	Yasunori Morishima (International Christian Univ.)	Does cognitive load of second-language processing limit thinking?
15:50pm~16:00pm	CONCLUDING REMARKS
RECEPTION

Institute for the Study of Language and Information
Kyung Hee University